

Information sheet

Face, neck and brow lift

Thank you for your recent enquiry regarding a face, neck and/or brow lift. At Transform Medical Group, we've been helping people transform their lives through cosmetic surgery for over 28 years and have treated more than 100,000 patients. As the UK's number one provider of cosmetic surgery and a member of the Covenant healthcare group – you can be confident that you'll receive the very best care.

This information fact sheet is designed to provide some general information on face, neck and brow lift procedures. However, as the decision to have cosmetic surgery is such a personal and important one, we would recommend that you take advantage of our free consultations. It is vital that you receive sound, professional advice that is tailored to your individual needs – so that you can make a well-informed decision that cosmetic surgery is right for you.

Face, neck and brow lift

Your skin loses its elasticity over the years. The effects of ageing, too much exposure to the sun, weight loss and smoking can leave your face showing deep creases, cause your jawline to slacken and your neck area to become wrinkled. A facelift can help rejuvenate the lower face, giving it a fresher, healthier appearance. For the best results, this face and neck treatment can be performed at the same time as an eye bag removal and perhaps also a brow lift, if appropriate. Patients report that they feel – and are told they look – years younger after this treatment.

What this procedure involves

A facelift is performed under a general anaesthetic by our highly experienced medical team. Incisions are made in the existing skin creases and hair-bearing regions surrounding the ear. During this procedure, the surgeon aims to retract and advance the skin and its underlying tissues to create a smoother, more defined contour for your neck and jawline. You will find that this gets rid of loose skin and problem lines and wrinkles, with the overall effect of giving the face and neck area a much softer, refreshed and younger look. The procedure will require a two-night stay in one of our purpose-built cosmetic surgery hospitals. It is natural to have some bruising and swelling of the face and numbness, but this soon begins to settle. Your surgeon will also recommend that you take two weeks off work.

We offer a comprehensive and extensive post-operative care programme, which includes detailed post-operative instructions and follow-up appointments with your surgeon at your local Transform clinic to ensure a speedy recovery, all at no additional cost.

Making the right decision

The decision to have cosmetic surgery is a very personal one and it is vital that you receive sound and professional advice – tailored to your individual circumstances – so that you can make a well-informed decision. If it is something you are considering, then take advantage of our free consultations. Our friendly and approachable patient care coordinators, along with the specialist surgeons will assess your situation honestly and be happy to discuss options and provide you with the information that will help you to make the right choices for you.

To arrange a free consultation, simply call 0500 20 20 20.